Dear Parent,

We are grateful to you for trusting us with your son or daughter. This is SuperCamp's 36th summer and we value the many relationships we've developed over the years. We love to hear stories from students who've attended, some multiple times, about their successes and how they've used what they learned at SuperCamp.

My favorite moments at SuperCamp sessions I visit each year are the closing ceremonies where I witness the emotion of the students and meet their parents. Whether or not I meet you this year, I hope to hear from you and would love to see your son or daughter again next year! Thank you for being part of our SuperCamp family.

My best,

Bobbi DePorter
President
Building the FOUNDATION of Self: Early adolescence is a pivotal time when children are beginning to develop higher order thinking skills, establish and maintain healthy social interactions, define their values, and cultivate a mature sense of self. In addition, they are setting and reinforcing the behaviors and attitudes that will prepare them for success as lifelong learners.

Benefits

If your child is about to complete fifth grade or already enrolled in middle school, this 6-day Junior Forum program will prepare him or her to be a confident, responsible person and lifelong learner by teaching subject matter such as:

- Conflict resolution
- Time management
- Reading, writing, note taking
- Positive communication
- Creative thinking, memory
- Goal setting

Junior Forum Leadership Track (ages 12 to 13): Former Junior Forum participants go deeper into the curriculum and add leadership skills to the mix. Students are given opportunities to mentor other students by modeling essential elements of the curriculum and receive focused coaching, opportunities to practice leadership, and feedback on their progress.
TRANSFORMATION of Self: Teenage adolescence is a critical time of self-development in the face of many external influences. In defining their sense of self, teens are strongly influenced by their reactions to family, friends, entertainment, social media, and societal norms. During this phase of a teen’s life, positive communication, effective listening, self-reflection, habit formation, self-expression, and building healthy relationships can be factors in creating a positive sense of self both as a person and a lifelong learner. College and career readiness coupled with preparation for life after high school is the focus of this program.

Benefits

Whether your child is beginning or already in high school, the 6-day and 10-day Senior Forum programs will enhance how he or she learns, improve how they build relationships, and teach them how to manage their social networks through:

- Positive communication
- Effective listening
- Self-reflection
- Habit formation
- Self-expression
- Building healthy relationships
Senior Forum: 6-day and 10-day programs
Students gain strategies to build study skills, improve grades, and embrace leadership. Courses include reading, writing, academic strategies, memory, critical thinking and more, along with life skills in communication and relationship building and our 8 Keys of Excellence principles to live by. An outdoor adventure day facilitates student insights into who they are and what they are capable of achieving.

Senior Forum Leadership Track (ages 15 to 18): Former Senior Forum participants go deeper into the curriculum and gain leadership skills through mentoring other students in the core elements of the curriculum. Focused coaching, opportunities to practice leadership, and feedback on their progress guide them in their leadership growth.

New Senior Forum Leadership Team (ages 16 to 18): We are excited to reintroduce this successful program. Exclusively for former Senior Forum Leadership Track participants, students will form their own team and take a step higher in their leadership development. This opportunity is only offered at SuperCamp's Senior Forum held at the University of Central Florida, July 24 to 29.
Quantum Academy helps ensure that students are college and career ready and have the leadership skills required for success in life. A large number of students enter college unprepared for the culture and expectations of college life. Time management, balancing work and school, making healthy social choices, and managing finances are just a few of the added pressures collegiate life presents to students. For success in college students not only have to be prepared academically, but also possess a level of independence and leadership that isn’t addressed in high school.

Benefits

At Quantum Academy, students’ skills are sharpened in several key academic and personal areas that are critical to success in college. They address these areas in the context of real-life college situations and expectations.

Academically, students gain effective study habits and learning techniques, quality academic writing skills, and improved reading speed and comprehension. Leadership skills include preparation and delivery of presentations, how to debate a topic, effective participation and communication in team environments, listening to others, and reaching consensus within a group while still holding true to their values and beliefs. In addition, students learn about management of personal finances and ownership of choices and outcomes, and gain clarity on personal values and direction in life.
